

indoor play, everyday.

sensory bins

watercolors or finger paints play with bubbles, plastic dishes and/or little toys in the kitchen sink eat a frozen treat in the tub turn on cosmickids yoga (youtube) turn on gonoodle (also youtube) do an indoor picnic

plan a playdate

play with shaving cream dance party

bake cookies

bake brownies

bake cupcakes

make cupcake toppers

play restaurant or tea party play with play doh

make a fort

do a scavenger hunt organize your toy bins make a pile of pillows to jump in make paper airplanes play a card or board game get crafty with cardboard boxes play dress up

thumb or leg wrestle

“ice skate” on towels

make silly videos

trace your hands or full body play simon says

play hot lava

play don't touch the ground with balloons (make paddles from paper plates) build legos

make the longest hot wheel track ever face paint

make slime

make a cootie catcher or play MASH make puppets from paper lunch bags (or costumes from paper shopping bags) make an eye spy sensory jar read or listen to a story play hide and seek write notes or letters

make a carepackage

blow up a pool float to play with indoors make shadow puppets practice a new dance move or routine write out a bucket list make instruments from craft supplies cut paper snowflakes slide down the stairs on cardboard order activities/supplies from amazon for the next time your bored :) raeannkelly.com

 indoor play, everyday.

